

Celebrating 199 Years of Professionalism, Excellence

Ordnance Week 2011

Ordnance Week 2011 is scheduled for May 2-5 at Fort Lee, Va. All the plans are in place for a full schedule of events to celebrate our proud Ordnance Corps legacy.

I invite all fellow logisticians and their spouses to join us for this time of celebration and discussion. We are looking forward to a great golf scramble, a proud Hall of Fame induction ceremony and an outstanding formal military ball.

In addition to these events, we are taking a hard look at where we are as a Corps and where we want to go across all three of our core competencies. This will be accomplished through a series of presentations and break-out sessions, providing a great opportunity to gather input from an operational perspective to the generating force on short and long term Ordnance Corps issues.

Information regarding Ordnance Week can be accessed via the OD webpage: <http://www.goordnance.army.mil/index.html>. I hope to see you at this exceptional professional development event.

GO ORDNANCE!

Clark W. LeMasters
COL(P), LG
Chief of Ordnance